1407-1 Cabochons

The word “cabochon” refers to a stone that’s round or faceted on the front and flat on the back. In this episode, we’ll look at a variety of stones that can be used as cabochons and ideas for using them to create stunning jewelry designs.

Cabochons are available in a wide variety of styles. Once you’ve decided which cab you’re going to use, you can think about how to set it. See the other projects in this episode for some exciting project ideas.

Whether you make your own fancy cabochon setting or buy a pre-made version, cabs make beautiful pendants for beaded jewelry designs.

You might remember this multiple-strand necklace from a previous season of Beads, Baubles & Jewels. Katie added the moonstone cabochon pendant for this episode!
